Vocabulary Words: Crisco®, pop

Stan and his dog, Spot, went to the park for fun. The park had a twig for Stan to toss to Spot.

Stan had a hot dog to grill. He had to get the grill hot for his hot dog. Then he had to put some Crisco® on the grill for the hot dog. The Crisco® was in his van. He went to the van to get the Crisco®.

Spot the dog saw the hot dog. Spot did want a hot dog. Spot got a sniff of the hot dog. He ran to grab it from the grill.

Stan said, "Stop, Spot! Drop that hot dog!" Spot did not stop or drop the hot dog. Spot ran to the trash can to drop the hot dog in it. Then he ran back to Stan at the van.

"What will we do?" Stan said to Spot. "I have one hot dog. I will not dwell on it." Spot was sad. "We can have one hot dog, Spot," said Stan.

Stan put the hot dog on the grill until it was hot. "We can both have a hot dog," said Stan. "Then we can have a swig of pop. What fun we had at the park!" said Stan.
