Frank and Hank went to a songfest. They saw a sign that said, "Honk if you like to sing!" So the horn went honk, and Hank began to sing.

Hank sang a song. "Ring, Ring, Ring Went the Bell" was his song. It was a fun song to sing. Next, Frank sang a song. "Frank the Tank" was his song. His song was not good. With a wink, and in a blink, Hank had to help Frank with his song so it would be good.

When they got to the songfest, Hank said, "Frank, I see the big rink where the band will play. Let us go see the band."

In the rink, there was a man who had on a hat like a king. He had to stand in the rink and sing. The band began to play with the man as he sang. The song was so long.

It was a hot day. Frank and Hank went to get a drink. They had to get to a drink stand. Hank said, "I see a drink stand at the end of the rink." The drink was $3.00. They did not have cash.

The man at the drink stand said, "You can just have the pop. You do not have to have cash." The pop was good, and the songfest was over.

"What a good day we had," said Frank.

"Yes," said Hank, "it was a good day."
